I'm not a bot

Astor theatre perth seating map

Astor perth seating plan. Astor theatre perth seating plan. Astor theatre perth seating capacity. Astor theater seating chart. Astor theatre seating plan.

Me First and the Gimme Gimmes are back at it again, 20 years after trashing Johnny's Bar Mitzvah. This time they're targeting a Quinceañera celebration, promising to bring the party to Madison. Their show "Blow it... At Madison's Quinceañera" is a wild ride that will have everyone singing along to their hits and new songs alike. Don't be fooled by the teenage vibe - this band's got something for every audience member. On Thursday, The Whitlams are taking the stage at the Astor Theatre to mark 25 years of their iconic album "Love This City". This double-platinum masterpiece will be played in full, along with some of their most beloved live tracks and a special brass section. It's going to be an unforgettable night as they celebrate this Australian music milestone. Then on Friday, it's time for something entirely different - a 100% Mandarin show featuring Taiwanese comedy superstar Brian Tseng. His hilarious stand-up routines have taken the world by storm, from sold-out tours to record-breaking crowds at the Taipei Arena. Don't miss out on his unique brand of humor! Finally, on Saturday, we're going back in time to 1988 when Pink Floyd brought Australia a rock concert experience like no other. Their energy and creativity continue to inspire new generations of music lovers. The early 1980s saw a significant cultural shift, culminating in Pink Floyd's electrifying tour to support their hit album A Momentary Lapse of Reason. This tour set the bar high for live performances worldwide and left an indelible mark on the music scene. In celebration of this milestone, Australia's own Echoes of Pink Floyd is now revisiting these iconic sounds 35 years later. On a separate note, Finland's renowned comedian ISMO brings his unique blend of wordplay and witty observations to the Australian stage as part of his WOO HOO! WORLD TOUR in November 2024. This tour promises to expand globally across the US, Europe, Canada, and beyond in 2025. Notably, ISMO holds a record for being the first Finnish comedian to perform on CONAN. Further, Brad Williams, hailed by many as one of America's most hilarious comedians, is set to entertain audiences in Australia and New Zealand. His impressive repertoire includes appearances on TV shows and films such as The Tonight Show, Dave Attell's Comedy Underground, and Jimmy Kimmel Live, with his latest Netflix special, The Degenerates, receiving outstanding reviews. Lastly, The Screaming Jets have solidified their position as a dominant force in Australian music over the years. Their distinctive sound combines powerful rock anthems with heartwarming ballads and signature harmonies that have captivated listeners for decades. The Jets continue to dominate the charts with their iconic hits like "Better" and "Helping Hand," which have become anthems for audiences. With a successful career spanning numerous Top 10 and Top 20 albums, they remain one of the most successful acts in Australian music. Motown legends are coming back to life on stage with a new show featuring international artists recreating the dynamic live performances of legendary acts like The Temptations, Stevie Wonder, and The Supremes. Expect classic hits like "Reach Out" and "Heatwave" as well as other timeless favorites from iconic Motown legends. Aussie rockers Grinspoon are set to return with new music after a 12-year hiatus, and they're hitting the road on their "whatever, whenever, wherever" tour, visiting every corner of Australia. The band is excited to share their new album, "whatever, whatever," and promises an unforgettable live experience. Waxahatchee, the moniker of critically acclaimed singer-songwriter Katie Crutchfield, is making a long-awaited return to Australia in 2024. With six critically acclaimed albums under her belt, she's never felt more confident as an artist, and fans can expect an incredible show when Waxahatchee takes the stage. While her musical style has evolved from simple folk to richer country sounds, her voice remains unchanged - warm and intimate, with a poetic touch. A new event promises to bring the magic of Vegas back to life, featuring iconic performers and their greatest hits in an unforgettable experience. The Astor Theatre is set for a comedy extravaganza this December! On the 6th, Isaac Butterfield kicks off his 2024 World Tour with a show that's not afraid to tackle the tough stuff. Expect hilarious takes on everyday life and fearless commentary on hot topics - it's forbidden comedy at its best, guaranteed to leave you laughing. The "Diamond" VIP experience includes top-notch seats, a signed book, and a meet-and-greet with Isaac himself, but be quick as spots are limited. Big thanks to Dana White for sponsoring the event. To get the most out of your night, please refrain from filming. The following night, Saturday the 7th, The Annual Comedy Gala takes over the Astor Theatre. Charles Firth, James Schloeffel, Mark Humphries, and Veronica Milsom join forces for a satirical skewering of politics and culture. Don't miss out on a night of laughter and satire - VIP tickets get you the best seats and a copy of The Chaser/Shovel Annual. Note: All attendees under 18 must be accompanied by an adult. Finally, on Wednesday the 11th, James drops by for his own brand of comedy. From YouTube stardom to live shows, James brings his unique style and humor to the Astor Theatre - don't miss it! James Marriott's music career took off after releasing his single 'slow down' in 2020, garnering over 20 million streams. He spent time crafting his EP, eventually releasing 'Bitter Tongues' in 2022, solidifying his status as a multi-faceted artist. The album drew inspiration from artists like Phoebe Bridgers and The Strokes. Meanwhile, Hoodoo Gurus are celebrating their 40th anniversary with a national tour for their debut album, 'Stoneage Romeos'. Released in 1984, the album featured hits Leilani, Tojo, My Girl, and I Want You Back. It reached #29 on the Australian Album Chart and won Best Debut Album at the 1984 Countdown Awards. The band will be playing tracks from this iconic album during their tour in December 2024. I Want You Back, a notable track, climbed to #29 on the Australian Album Chart. This album ultimately took home the Best Debut Album award at the 1984 Countdown Awards. Meanwhile, Stoneage Romeos has remained a Top 10 staple on numerous Australian charts, including Top 50 and Top 100 lists. The upcoming Back to the Stoneage national tour in 2024 will feature the band performing tracks from the album, including More info... Buy Tickets at Melbourne's iconic Astor Theatre.